

The Rottweiler in Type

Discussions on Breed Type, Structure and their Correlation to Locomotion

Program

1. The whole is equal to the sum of its parts.

2. Head Type.

- Traits prerequisite for correct head type.
- The Muzzle.

3. The Rottweiler Eye.

- Geometry and placement of the eyes.

4. Ears.

5. Examples of correct head type.

6. Examples of incorrect head type.

7. What are the differences in head type for the Dog and Bitch?

- Example of correct Dog and Bitch head type.

8. Correct Body Type.

- Important ratios to understand.
- Correct Body Measurements: Profile view.
- Incorrect Body Measurements.
- Correct Body Measurements: Front and Rear view.

9. Skeletal Angulations simplified.

10. Skeletal Angulations Realized.

11. Locomotion.

